TO GO BEFORE GRAND JURY

The Settlement of the Dinwiddie Estate to be Looked Into.

Grand Jury Adjourns Pending Arrival of Witnesses from Illinois.

Some four or five months ago Attorney Rufus M. Potts, living at Taylorsville, Illinois, came to this city in company with a stenographer, and employing another stenographer here, spent several days in copying all the court records relating to the Dinwiddie estate, one of the largest ever settled in this county.

Harvey Dinwiddie, who died in 1886, left an estate valued at over $100,000, and its management was practically left to his widow, Maria Dinwiddie.

She died in 1893 and according to the terms of her will a farm of 160 acres was devised to the county commissioners, together with several thousands of dollars of bank stock, with which to maintain a home for aged people and boys.

This farm was in the county's possession until 1903, when, by an act passed by the Legislature, the commissioners relinquished their control of the farm, and it was sold.

Some of the heirs were dissatisfied with the settlement, and it was at the instigation of a lady in Illinois who is one of the heirs, that Attorney Potts began his investigation. When the final settlement of the estate was made the $100,000 had dwindled down to a small fraction of the original sum and it is said that no satisfactory explanation has never been made as to where the money went.

At the time Potts left this city after having finished his investigation, it is said, he remarked that he had found that a certain important document had been removed from the court house. He is said, too, to have found damaging evidence against certain persons in Rushville and at the time remarked that he would "return to Rushville shortly."

It has been learned that the Dinwiddie estate will be brought before the present grand jury for investigation. In fact Mr. Potts and his client were to have come from Taylorsville yesterday and an investigation was to have been begun. The fact that a strange lady was examined by the grand jury yesterday evening, started the report that the investigation had begun.

Mr. Potts and his client, however, it is said, will not get here until Friday or Saturday, and the grand jury has adjourned until their arrival.

It is said that Mr. Potts will lay before the grand jury a complete treatise on the Dinwiddie estate, together with all the important documents, papers and records connected with the estate.

It is said that he will attempt to show that a very important document, involving some $20,000 is absent from the court records, that bribes were accepted by certain public officials and that there were crooked transactions upon the part of people connected with the case, residing in Rushville and Kokomo.

It is said that certain Rushville people recently went to Taylorsville, and on their knees and amid tears begged Mr. Potts not to bring the Dinwiddie estate before the grand jury. It is understood, however, that an investigation will be made and within the next few days.

Prosecutor Kiplinger, today said he had received no word nor did he know of anything being done regarding the case. Mr. Potts recently wrote Mr. Kiplinger a letter, asking him if he was the deputy prosecutor. Mr. Kiplinger says he has never answered the letter. There is a report that an important letter from Mr. Potts was already in the hands of the grand jury, but it could not be confirmed as the authorities are very reticent regarding the case.

THE FIRE LOSS

Surprising Statistics Show That the Losses by Fire are Simply Enormous.

EXECUTIVE IS IN EARNEST

State Will Sue Gambling Resorts for Money Sherrick Lost.

Marion County Grand Jury Has Started an Investigation of the Sherrick Matter.

Indianapolis, Sept. 21.—The Marion county grand jury today began an investigation of the case of David M. Sherrick, the deposed auditor of state, who is $145,000 short in his account; and who was bound over by Police Judge Whallon on a charge of embezzlement. Governor Hanly, Warren Bigler Sherrick's successor, and John Reed, settlement clerk in the auditor's office, have been subpoenaed as witnesses. It would not be surprising if indictments should be returned against Sherrick before the end of the week, as he has admitted that he invested the state's funds, which is contrary to law.

The Sherrick case may furnish the governor with a wedge to get under the gambling resorts at French Lick and West Baden, which he is now publicly pledged to close permanently. Attorney General Miller says that the state will probably begin suit soon to collect the $10,000 which the governor declares Sherrick lost at the French Lick casino. It is also likely that the American Surety company, which gave Sherrick's bond, will join in the suit to recover the money lost at gambling, as it stands to lose between $45,000 and $50,000 on account of Sherrick's shortage. R. O. Hawkins, attorney for the company, said that if evidence is produced that Sherrick lost large sums gambling, every effort would be made to collect it. Governor Hanly is said to be in possession of evidence that Sherrick lost other large sums over the gaming tables, and more sums may be the result.

The state will not loss by Sherrick's action, as the surety company has decided to waive claim to the investments he made. It is now believed that about $100,000 will be realized from them. As Sherrick's bond was $100,000, the state can't lose, but the surety company may be out $50,000.

Sherrick's shortage was reduced this morning $19,825.01, the amount he had deposited in the Farmers' and Merchants' bank at Cicero, Ind., as the money was paid into the treasury. Attorney General Miller says the state certainly has the right to collect all its funds that Sherrick invested.

The governor's utterances and the statement of the attorney general that suit will be filed to collect the money lost at gambling has again brought the French Lick and West Baden casinos into the public limelight. There is much speculation, however, as to how the state will proceed against them to close them up or to collect the money which Sherrick is said to have lost.

The casino at French Lick, for instance, is under an entirely different management from what it was in 1903, when the governor says Sherrick lost $10,000 of the state's money.

It is not known on whom the state could get legal service if the suit were instituted, as T. Taggart, president and one of the proprietors of the hotel property, has never operated the gambling resort and is not supposed to own any stock in it. It is not believed that he or his company could be dragged into the courts to settle for what Sherrick lost. The casino changed hands only a few weeks ago at the time there was talk that the governor was about to close it down.

Since the governor made the charge that Sherrick lost heavily at French Lick and referred to him as a common gambler, the question of whether or not the information about Sherrick was furnished by R. Harry Miller of Fairmount, the governor's detective, has arisen. Miller spent thirty-four days at French Lick, for which the governor paid him $10 a day out of the state treasury. His business there, according to stories printed at the time, was to get evidence relative to the gambling, to be used by the governor in efforts to close the place.

She stated that she had been suffering from an intense headache all day and that some time during the night she went down stairs and secured four small tablets. These she took to ease her headache.

The tablets had been placed in a small glass a few weeks ago and were found in the yard. They were samples distributed over the city by some drug agency and they were supposed to cure headache after taking three or four of them. It is thought that these were the direct cause of Mrs. Small's severe illness.

—W. E. Wallace left today for Colorado, where he will meet his son Thomas, who has been in California. Thomas has been improving but slowly and he will probably remain in Colorado.

Hamilton and Fort Wayne speeches largely on the strength of Miller's report. At Fort Wayne the governor created great enthusiasm when he said: "If the people of the state will support me, and I believe they will, the two Monte Carlos of Indiana, at French Lick and West Baden, which today disgrace the state, will be closed and permanently closed, unless the law of the state as now written proves ineffective."

Fred Gemmer, the governor's private secretary, declares that Miller knew nothing whatever of the Sherrick case until the morning of the day his resignation was forced. He said that it was not Miller's mission to French Lick to get evidence regarding Sherrick's gambling. He did not disclose where the governor got the information.

Prosecutor Benedict declares that the grand jury will thoroughly investigate W. S. Wickard's connection with the case. Wickard's name was signed to $50,000 worth of notes for the J. H. Murry Lumber company, Sherrick having let him have that amount. The governor says the notes are forgeries. Wickard has threatened to sue him for libel, but has not filed a complaint in court.

ACCIDENTS AT MORRISTOWN

Butcher Knife and Cutting Box Figure in Two Bloody Mishaps.

The Shelbyville Liberal of Wednesday says: Two accidents of a serious nature occurred at Morristown Tuesday. Fred Handy, aged 25, while assisting Harry Talbert, the butcher, with his daily work, had several of the muscles of his left forearm severed by a butcher knife held by the latter person. The gash that resulted from the unfortunate accident laid bare the bones of the forearm, just below the elbow joint.

Everett Myers, aged 11 years, youngest son of Commissioner Joseph Myers, had three fingers of his left hand chopped off above the first joint Tuesday evening while operating a cutting box to prepare feed for his father's stock. Both persons were attended by Dr. R. S. McCray.

MALE TEACHERS DROPPING OUT

Statistics Show That Teaching is Becoming an Occupation for Women.

Teaching school in Indiana is becoming an occupation for women. Men are eliminating themselves from it and are turning their attention to more profitable pursuits. The idea is becoming more and more prevalent among the masculine part of the population that a man can not measure up to the full stature of manhood and engage in teaching in the grades; in other words, that teaching is not exactly a manly occupation. There is a growing impression that there are other things to be done that are more to a man's credit and that teaching should be left to the gentler and weaker sex.

This tendency, interesting as it is important, is emphasized by a bulletin just issued by the Census Bureau, which deals elaborately with statistics of teachers and teaching. It shows that of the 14,225 persons engaged in teaching in Indiana in 1900 there were 6034 males and 8191 females. Ten years later or in 1900 of the 16,251 teachers in Indiana there were 6431 males 9820 females.

In other words, the proportion of female teachers employed in the Indiana schools increased in the decade from 57.6 to 60.4 per cent., or, to put it conversely, the number of male teachers fell off from 42.4 per cent to 39.6 per cent of all of the teachers employed in the State.

HIS LIFE WAS MADE WEARY

Mr. McCall Says Democratic Opportunities for Money Made Him Tired.

Democrats Were Crossing His Path Every Step He Took Looking for Money.

New York, Sept. 21.—Political contributions of the New York Life Insurance company and the connection of Andrew A. Hamilton of Albany with the alleged political activity of the company are the points around which the hearing before the legislative investigation have turned.

President John A. McCall of the New York Life Insurance company was the chief witness and for several hours he was subjected to a fire of questions by Charles E. Hughes, counsel for the committee, concerning the money paid for political purposes. The climax was reached when Mr. McCall declared that the soliciting of funds for campaign purposes was not confined to the Republican party in the campaign of 1904, and announced:

"My life was made weary by the Democratic candidates chasing me for money in that campaign. Some of the very men who today are being interviewed in the papers and denouncing men who contribute to campaigns were crossing my path every step I took looking for money. One—the candidate himself, Parker, if he would show up his books when he was chairman of the Democratic state committee, it would give you a fit. He never rejected a dollar in the world. He would take every dollar that was paid to him."

Judge Parker was chairman of the Democratic state executive committee in 1885.

Mr. McCall's statement was greeted with wild cheering which continued until threat was made to clear the room of listeners if the crowd did not restrain itself.

With great care, the account of Andrew A. Hamilton with the company was analyzed by Mr. Hughes, who asked Mr. McCall about every item, and made it clear that a search was being made for political contributions. Mr. McCall stoutly maintained that he had given Mr. Hamilton no money to be used in influencing legislation at Albany, but the admission was obtained from Mr. McCall that Hamilton's expenses at Albany were paid from the company's funds and that his accounts were not submitted to audit. It was shown that $235,000 had been paid to Hamilton with only a verbal accounting to President McCall and that at present Hamilton owes the company about $60,000, but Mr. McCall said he felt sure that Hamilton, who is now in Europe, will repay this sum upon the company's demand.

Parker Gets From Under.

Judge Alton B. Parker, Democratic candidate for president in 1904, has given the press a statement concerning President McCall's testimony relative to the soliciting of funds from the New York Life Insurance company Democrats in 1904. The statement follows:

"My attention has been called to certain testimony said to have been given by Mr. John A. McCall, while a witness before the insurance investigation committee in reply to Mr. Hughes's questions whether he thought that in 1904 the interests of the policy holders were so seriously endangered that the company ought to contribute."

"It is evident that Mr. McCall was laboring under great excitement in making his reply, for it is very incoherent. But if his answer is intended to convey the impression that in the campaign of 1904, I, either directly or indirectly, solicited from him or his corporation or any other corporation, any money or valuable thing, his statement is absolutely false."

"On the contrary, I repeat now what I said before the election, that I expressly notified and directed the chairman of the executive committee of the national committee that no money should be received from corporations."

William F. Sheehan's attention was called to the testimony of Mr. McCall, and he said:

"I was chairman of the executive committee of the Democratic national committee. There was not a single man connected with the Democratic national campaign that solicited a dollar from Mr. McCall. If any such person made any such solicitation Mr. McCall should name him."

BUGGY UPSET, MEN INJURED

Rushville Parties Thrown From Vehicle in Turning a Corner.

Morton Conner, Julius Hambrock and John Toolen Injured and Buggy Wrecked.

Late yesterday afternoon Morton Conner, Julius Hambrock and John Toolen hired a horse from Edward Spradling, the liveryman, and started out for a ride. It is said that they were somewhat under the influence of liquor.

At a point about five miles southeast of this city, the horse, responding to beatings with a whip in the hands of Hambrock, started to run. It turned a corner at a furious pace and the buggy upset, throwing the horse and dashing the men against a fence.

Two wheels of the buggy were demolished, the seat was wrecked and the top torn off. The horse broke loose and ran up the road, but it was caught by Mr. Conner, who was badly cut and bruised about the face, and whose wrist was badly sprained. Toolen was bruised about the body and suffered a badly wrenched back. He is confined to his bed and is being attended by Dr. C. H. Parsons. Hambrock, too, was badly cut and bruised. The men were thrown upon their heads and became entangled in the wrecked buggy. The harness was partially destroyed, but the horse was unhurt, except for the welts upon his back, where he had been struck with the whip.

A passing vehicle brought the men to this city, where all of their injuries were dressed. The horse was led behind the vehicle and tied at the rear of the Exchange Bar, where Mr. Spradling found it later, when he started out to gather up his property. Conner and Hambrock are up and about today.

PORTER COUNTY MAN CALLED FROM HOME AT NIGHT AND MURDERED

by Unknown Person.

Laporte, Ind., Sept. 21.—After extensive investigation, Sheriff Green of Porter county announces that he believes the death of Wayne Hale, who was called from his home late at night three weeks ago and murdered, is the work of an Italian vendetta. It is known that Hale and an Italian whom he employed around the farm had quarreled and the latter threatened to kill Hale. Evidence from Chicago and Pittsburg upholds Sheriff Green's theory.

GOWDY COMING HOME

Retiring Consul General to Paris Will Soon Be on the High Seas.

Indianapolis, Sept. 21.—Word has been received by A. T. Jones of Rushville, financial agent for the Hon. John K. Gowdy, retiring consul general to Paris, that he and his family will leave Paris to arrive in Liverpool Oct. 2, and will reach Rushville Oct. 21. During Mr. Gowdy's eight years as consul general his agent has invested $100,000 for him in farm lands in Rush county, and he now has one of the finest places in the state. Colonel W. T. Durbin, ex-governor, and others who have just returned from a visit with the Gowdys at Paris say that Mr. Gowdy has no intention of becoming a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor in 1908.

Several justice and police court juries have about established it as a fact here that Sunday shaving is a necessity, regardless of the Indiana law which says that barber shops shall be closed on the Sabbath. For several months the union barbers have been carrying on a crusade against barbers who keep open Sundays. They have caused many arrests, but in spite of the fact that the law says very plainly that shops shall not be open, the men under arrest have been acquitted. Their attorneys have set up the claim that Sunday shaving is a necessity if a man wants to go to church looking presentable, and that regardless of the law the shop should not be molested for rendering such a blessing to individuals and society in general. On the other hand the union men have insisted that the law is plain and that all men could get their shaves on Saturday. The cases have been dragging along for months. The last one was disposed of yesterday, when a boss barber whose shop has been open every Sunday, was acquitted.

Vice President Fairbanks will leave Friday for Bellefontaine, Ohio, to be present Saturday at the opening of the Ohio Republican campaign. He will be one of the principal speakers. Governor Herrick and Senator Foraker will be the other two. It will probably be the only political speech the vice president will deliver this year, and very naturally much interest attaches to what he will say. The vice president is a native of Ohio, although most of his life has been spent in Indiana, and it will give him much pleasure to help out the Republicans of his former state. He is living quietly at his home on North Meridian street, but much of his time is occupied in preparation of addresses he is under engagement to deliver soon. He expects, however, to spend most of his time in Indianapolis until Nov. 15.

The fact that ten hotels are to be built on the Panama Zone, to "be used chiefly by the higher salaried employees," furnishes a slight indication of the number of that class of employees that will be on the pay roll.

Suicide comes rather high to the town of Worcester, Massachusetts. A milkman threw himself into one of the reservoirs, and the body was in the water four days, in consequence of which 17,000,000 gallons of water had to be drained off and this cost the city $17,000.

It may be regarded as already settled that the disclosures regarding the shortage in the office of the Auditor of State will stop the loaning or investment of State funds by officials. These funds should be kept inviolate and subject to the call of the State at any moment. If they are loaned the interest that accrues should go to the State. It is expected that the effect of this action will be widespread. It is believed that it will be taken up by boards of county commissioners and that there will be a demand for the interest that has accrued on county funds that county treasurers or other officials have loaned outright or had upon deposit in banks in consideration of interest.

EVIDENCE OF REFORM

A Hard Blow Has Been Struck at Gang Politics in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Sept. 21.—In a most unusual convention followed by an unprecedented demonstration, the new city party, a reform body opposed to the methods of the Republican organization, nominated a county ticket to be voted for at the November election. This convention was the first in many years in this city to which the delegates went uninstructed. There was no "slate" and each of the 917 delegates was at liberty to name whom he pleased for the offices. The result was a selection of candidates who fairly represent the reform element that has come into prominence since Mayor Weaver's break with the organization last May.

It is held by the authorities that the members of the band refused to obey orders, which warrants their dismissal.

The Height of Bliss.

Some people sing of open seas And some of sunny skies, But all my singing, if you please, Will be of pumpkin pies.

Behold the disk of mellow brown, With crinkled crust and light, And who in all this world could frown Beholding such a sight?

Above each pie a silken fold Of brown and oven wrought, But in aath it is a mine of gold With endless goodness fraught.

Go sing about the honeyed bliss That in red lips may lie But no one ever found a kiss To equal pumpkin pie.

CURES CATARRHAL DEAFNESS.

One Week's Use of Hyomei Did More Than Six Months' Treatment by Specialists.

In the treatment of deafness which is often a result of catarrh, Hyomei acts almost immediately upon the inflamed membrane and the hearing begins to return at once. A few days treatment will bring relief, and in three or four weeks, according to the severity of the case, a cure will be accomplished.

Miss Meeks of Mattawan, N. Y. says: "Hyomei is truly wonderful. I have used it but a short time and see a great change in my condition. My hearing is improving rapidly, and I had no idea I would improve so rapidly in so short a time. My breath which was very offensive to myself and others, has lost its bad odor entirely. I have spent a great deal of money with catarrh specialists, and can truthfully say that six months of their treatment is not equal to one month of Hyomei."

F. B. Johnson & Co. are selling Hyomei upon the unusual plan of agreeing to return the money if the medicine does not cure.

A complete outfit costs only $1.00, and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomei. The inhaler will last a lifetime and there is enough Hyomei for several weeks' treatment. Additional bottles of Hyomei can be procured for 50 cents. Compare this small expense with the fees charged by specialists, and then remember that if Hyomei does not cure, F. B. Johnson Co. will return your money.

What other treatment for catarrh and catarrhal colds is sold in this way?

WILD BABOONS.

An Incident Which Illustrates the Caution of the Animals. One of the farm boys drew our attention to what seemed little more than a couple of dark specks on the slope of the hills to the right, but we could soon see that they were moving, and when they came within half a mile of us we could distinctly recognize them as a herd of baboons.

The boy said that he was quite sure they were on their way to the water; but, to our surprise, they did not make any advance. A quarter of an hour elapsed, half an hour; still no sign of their approach. All at once, as if they had started from the earth by magic, at the open end of the pond, not sixty yards from our place of ambush, stood two huge males.

When or how they got there no one could tell. Probably they had come by a circuitous way through the valley, or it might be that they had crept straight down through the grass. They had certainly eluded our observation.

Being anxious to watch the movements of the animals and to ascertain whether they belonged to the herd playing under the mimosa, I refrained from firing and determined to see what would follow next. Both baboons sprang toward the water, and leaning down, they drank till they were satisfied. Then, having gravely stretched themselves, they solemnly stalked away on all fours in the direction of the herd. There was little doubt, therefore, that they belonged to the herd and had been sent forward to reconnoiter, for as soon as they got back the entire herd put itself in motion toward the pond.

There were mothers taking care of their little ones; there were half grown animals, the boys and girls of the company. At first only one baboon at a time came to the water's edge and, having taken its draft, retired to the rest, but when about ten had thus ventured separately they began to come in small groups, leaving the others rolling and jumping on the sand.—Youth's Companion.

A Wasp and a Fly.

An observer tells this: "I was once an interested spectator of a short struggle between a wasp and one of those large flies like a bee with a big, flat head. The pair were on the ground, and I watched while the wasp, after probably stinging the fly, deliberately severed the head from the body and then, finding it still too heavy a burden, cut off the tall end of the fly and flew off with the trunk without waiting to perform its toilet. The whole operation took about five minutes, and from the masterly manner the wasp set to work he was evidently a practiced hand."
